Alliance Française Summer Scholarship
The Leonardon/Magne Scholarship Program
$3,500 for summer study in France

Eligibility:
1. Freshmen, sophomores and juniors with two years of college French.
2. Students with a French-born parent are not eligible.
3. Students must express intention of taking at least one French course the fall after their return from France.
4. Students who have already studied in France are not eligible.

Requirements:
1. Remain in France for six weeks of the first seven weeks after arrival.
2. Complete enrollment in a French University or an accredited French school prior to departure from Houston (approval of the French Department Chair is required).
3. Plan to attend such school for minimum of 4 weeks.
4. Be ready to report in French to the Members of the Board of the Alliance at a specified meeting of the Alliance Française members in the fall.

The committee will consider knowledge and comprehension, scholastic achievement, interest in French language and culture, future career plans, maturity, personality and leadership qualities, probable adaptability, impression on contacts in France and influence on classmates after their return, and expression of need for financial aid for such a trip.

Students who wish to apply should download an application from the department’s web page or get an application from the department office. You can also find applications in the plastic clip beside the office door of Professor Nelson (Rayzor 226). The application (to be completed in English) must be submitted to the Department of Classical and European Studies (Rayzor 207) no later than Friday, February 1, 2019. Interviews in French will be held soon afterwards with the undergraduate committee in the department. The candidates selected by the committee will be interviewed at the Alliance Française on Saturday afternoon, February 16, 2019.
